ADVANCING CARE. HERE.
It is an honor and privilege to continue working with you as we move in the autumn months. It was wonderful seeing so many of you at our 24th Annual Cancer Survivors Event in June, which took place in spite of the weather alert! Special thanks to Sister Dorothy and OSP Founder Barbara Sarah for being part of our traditional candle-lighting ceremony and to our inspirational speakers, Keisha Bridge and Dr. Bruce Moor, who has a reflection about his own cancer experience written in this newsletter.

Gratitude to our summer Mental Health Practicum students, Brianna and Carrie Ann, who enriched our program with their presence and artistic talents. We wish them the best as they continue on with their education and training.

OSP continues to be committed to supporting you and your loved ones throughout your cancer experience: from diagnosis through survivorship and during end of life. We understand the emotional, financial and logistical challenges brought on by a cancer diagnosis and are here to share resources, connect you with peers who have been through it themselves, offer educational programs, and provide creative outlets to help you live fully with meaning and purpose in light of your diagnosis.

Please check out this newsletter for information about our varied offerings: support groups for women, men, younger women and caregivers, our memoir writing and creative arts programs, education on gynecologic health for post-menopausal women, our exercise and cooking classes and more! We look forward to staying engaged and connected in the months ahead.

Sincerely, —Ellen Marshall, MS., LCSW-R, OSW-C, Director of the Oncology Support Program

Coping Skills for Cancer
1st Tuesdays, Sept. 5, Oct. 3, Nov. 7, Dec. 5
12:00—1:30 p.m.
facilitated by Ellen Marshall, LCSW-R, OSW-C
& Sara Loughlin, MHC
Whether newly diagnosed with cancer, a cancer survivor or a caregiver, a cancer diagnosis can be overwhelming. In this group, we will explore practical skills to help regulate our nervous systems and find inner balance as we face cancer-related stressors, from medical anxiety to fear of recurrence.
This group integrates techniques of somatic experiencing, DBT, EFT, yoga breathing practices and mindfulness.

Living with Advanced Cancer
2nd Mondays, Sept. 11, Oct. 9, Nov. 13, Dec. 11
2:00—3:30 p.m.
facilitated by James Askin, LMSW

Gynecologic Care in the Post-Menopausal Years with Ashanda Saint Jean, MD, FACOG

Certain gynecologic cancers are more prevalent in the years after menopause, yet women in this age range are often uncertain when they should see a Gynecologist and what care they should receive.

In this program, Dr. Saint Jean will address the gynecologic care that is recommended for women in the post-menopausal years, including screening guidelines and symptoms that may indicate the need for further assessment, with a particular emphasis on early detection of endometrial/uterine and ovarian cancers. Please join us for this informative program designed to empower post-menopausal women in the safeguarding of their gynecologic health.

Dr. Saint Jean is Chair of the Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology of HealthAlliance, WMC Health and Medical Director of Advanced OB-GYN Associates in Kingston.

Thursday, October 12, 5:30-7:00 p.m. (Hybrid—in person at CSH and virtual)
To register, please call OSP at 845 339-2071 or email: oncology.support@hahv.org

Miso Cooking Club with Kathy Sheldon, RN and Bettina Zumdick
Virtual until further notice. Classes will be recorded and made available to those registered. Donations appreciated. Advance registration is requested to: kathy.sheldon@gmail.com or doris.blaha@hahv.org

Late Summer Cooking  September 19, 11:30 a.m.
As the seasons change, our choices move to fall vegetables in preparation for cooler weather. The markets will soon be displaying bright fall reds and oranges. Early winter squash and greens such as kale and collards, along with cauliflower, are perfect for seasonal transitioning.

Cooking for health - Cooking for illness  October 17, 11:30 a.m.
Changes in diet can help us stay healthy as the weather shifts. Add warm nourishing soups, including miso and vegetables to your soup bowls. Winter squash such as Kabocha makes a delicious, magnificent soup.
Enjoy these meals and stay warm all winter.

Home Remedies  November 7, 11:30 a.m.
Learn how to prepare home remedies: Try shiitake tea for a headache in the back of the head or Ume sho kuzu for a headache in the front of the head. “Let food be thy medicine.”

Miso Cooking Club formed in 2005 to support prevention, healing and recovery through healthy eating practices incorporating a plant-based diet. All classes feature Bettina Zumdick, chef, teacher, author and co-director of Planetary Health. For more information about Bettina or to view a listing of her own class offerings, visit www.culinarymedicineschool.com
“Thirteen Days” by Dr. Bruce Moor
(A personal reflection, post stem-cell transplant)

Thirteen days of isolation and consolidation. Post stem-cell transplant in Mt. Sinai, I was confined to the transplant floor. I could endlessly walk the floors, sit in my chair or lie in bed. I chose not to turn on the TV or listen to the radio. Rather, I chose to listen to myself. This enforced retreat was a gift, but I frequently look at unexpected events as gifts presented to me for exploration and possible illumination. Even difficult or frightening things, like being told I have multiple myeloma, present opportunities that come with an invitation to explore my feelings and place in the world. I had a lot of time and a lot of deep digging. But I’m a prospector at heart, so digging has the promise of finding something of beauty or value. So what did I find? Lost parts; feelings I had as a child, both painful and joyous. I surveyed my life from infancy up to parenthood and to the close of my professional life, when I retired to deal full time with my disease and the next chapter. A fully honest look at who I had been, for better or worse. I came out a changed person. The transplant didn’t work, but I was a more settled, integrated whole person. Self-compassion and forgiveness set me free of those binds I was never aware of. Grasping the fullness of the beauty and terror that aliveness is about: what Rilke perfectly described, “Let everything happen to you: beauty and terror.” Or what Zorba meant when he described his life as “The Full Catastrophe.” It’s messy business, but a full embrace of what is in all of these dimensions is what life is. Fairness and goodness really have no currency with the master clock maker. We are who we are in all of our parts, and that is the simple reality.

Ending a career as an interventional radiologist and having the question asked by many patients, “why me”, I’d tell them that it’s nothing you did or didn’t do: it’s just something that happens. Being alive carries the inevitable burden of dying. There’s no place for guilt. No favors are granted to a good person, and conversely, no punishment for a bad person, much as we wish it that way. A physician understands early on that health and disease aren’t about reward or punishment. We live in a world of what is, and what can and can’t be done.

So, myeloma is invariably a fatal disease. Yes, life prolongation can be achieved by many different therapies, but there’s no cure at this time. So if I don’t die from a complication of myeloma, I’ll die of heart disease, a stroke, or another cancer. The end is certain, but the timing and cause are yet to be written. How does one live their lives with the executioner waiting in the wings? As I write, two birds are building a nest in a scrub tree right outside of my window. They’re doing what birds do, but the universe is sending me the same message. Do what you do. Not what I’m told to do, but what my heart wants me to do.

The thought of death on some horizon — maybe near or, hopefully, far — crystallizes what’s essential and what’s of less importance. It’s not about being busy, but what feeds my soul. And that simply is connection with people and the physical world. Once I connected to my core self, it all became so clear. We live our usual lives in a maelstrom of media, consumerism, and putting up with what we think we need, or what people tell us we need. Should I be composing a bucket list? Just another mirage commodifying experiences to say to others, look what I did. No, I’d rather plant a seed, or tenderly place a seedling in a larger pot and watch it thrive. Or speak to my sons, allowing them the space to develop knowing that their dad is lovingly watching them. I now live in a pretty little house filled with art, life and beauty. And having recently found a partner who I love deeply has been an unexpected joy in my mid-seventies. I really need little else. I am at peace with myself and am not afraid. I can’t control what will be, but I trust in what is.

Dr. Bruce Moor recently retired after working as an Interventional Radiologist with the Cancer Program of HealthAlliance Hospital for over 40 years. He was diagnosed with multiple myeloma in August 2021. We are grateful for the excellent and compassionate care he has delivered to cancer patients over the years, and for sharing his wisdom and experience with our community.

Financially Support the Oncology Program All Year Round!

At the Oncology Support Program, our services are free or available at a very low fee. This is possible thanks to the support of WMC/HealthAlliance as well as donations from the community. Please help us continue to support people affected by cancer by making a tax-deductible donation to OSP or the Linda Young Ovarian Cancer Support Program.

Make checks payable to: The HealthAlliance Foundation (Indicate OSP or LY in memo) Mail check to: Oncology Support Program, 105 Mary’s Ave. Kingston, NY 12401 or go to: Donate to HA Donation Page (wmchealth.org) and in the section “What would you like your donation to support?” please select “HealthAlliance Oncology Support Center”
